Consultance

Specialized consultancy services in the field of testing, validation and software development

TTech offers on-site consultancy services to support its Customers in the early stages of:
 - design of a new product according to the guidelines of the "design for testability"
 - analysis of products and processes to define the procedures and write the test specifications
 - analysis of standards (ISO and Custom) and definition of the validation procedures for products with CAN and LIN communication lines
 - implementation of procedures for validation and testing according with the V model
 - execution of the validation tests, analysis of results and drafting of reports for the developers
 - development of firmware modules (diagnostic routines and communication protocols) for automotive ECUs